Internal assessment of the students in each semester is carried out by all the departments during the course of the semester program. The concerned departments hold sessional examination of all the honours papers in the department itself, while the common papers are held centrally by the college. If the performance of the students is not found to be satisfactory in the sessional examination, departments are advised to hold a second sessional examination for evaluating the academic progress of the students within the time frame of the semester program. Students are assessed through various other parameters, apart from the sessional exam. Assignments on relevant topics are given to the students by each faculty member and the assignments are submitted within stipulated time. Apart from this, strict adherence to 70% attendance of all students in all the classes is maintained by all the departments of the college. Failure to maintain 70% attendance in the classes by the students is clearly reflected in the internal assessment evaluation. Thus, the internal assessment is always carried out in a timely and organised manner to ensure proper academic progress of the students in the course of a semester program. 95% students felt that the system of internal assessment adopted by the college was fair and held timely.

Was the internal assessment through assignments fair and timely?
