

A popular talk on “Nature, Environment and Belief Systems”

On 21st March 2021, a captivating and thought-provoking talk titled "Nature, Environment, and Belief Systems" was organized by the Department of Botany at the college. The programme was organized under the scheme “Sanskar: Manuhe Manuhor Babe” Catalysed by ASTEC, DST, GOVT. OF ASSAM.

The event aimed to explore the intricate connections between human belief systems, cultural perspectives, and the natural environment, shedding light on how these factors influence our relationship with nature and shape environmental attitudes and behaviours.

The talk was delivered by Dr. Abani Kumar Bhagabati, Professor, Department of Geography, Gauhati University. With extensive knowledge and expertise in the subject matter, the speaker engaged the audience with insightful observations, compelling narratives, and thought-provoking insights. The talk also addressed contemporary environmental challenges, such as climate change, biodiversity loss, and habitat destruction. The speaker underscored the significance of incorporating cultural and spiritual dimensions into environmental conservation strategies, emphasizing the need for holistic approaches that honour both scientific and indigenous knowledge systems.

Furthermore, the audience actively participated in the talk through Q&A sessions, group discussions, and sharing personal experiences and insights. Attendees expressed enthusiasm for the topic and engaged in meaningful dialogue, reflecting on their own cultural backgrounds and beliefs in relation to nature and the environment.

  A Popular Talk on

“প্রকৃতি পরিবেশ আৰু বিশ্বাস-অপবিশ্বাস”
“Nature, Environment and Belief Systems”

Speaker : Dr. Abani Kumar Bhagabati
Professor, Department of Geography
Gauhati University, Ghy - 781014

Organized by : Department of Botany
North Gauhati College, Ghy - 781031

Under the Scheme : “SANSKAR : MANUHE MANUHOR BABE”
CATALYSED BY ASTEC, DST, GOVT. OF ASSAM

VENUE : NORTH GAUHATI COLLEGE, ASSAM
DATE : 20.03.2021, TIME : 11.00 AM

